Welcome to your new FosterHope Sacramento newsletter. You will be hearing from us monthly with stories, resources, news, events and invitations to get involved. Know someone interested in becoming a foster parent? The need for foster families has never been greater. If you already foster, please refer a friend to FosterHope Sacramento. Please consider sharing your stories of your own experience with us, as your experience can inspire others. We are so grateful for all that you do for foster children and youth. Their lives are richer because of your willingness to be there for them when it matters the most.

Big FosterHope thanks to Ben Cleland and Eagle Scout Troop 144 for building a fence to enclose the FosterHope garden. Nice community service work, boys!

FosterHope welcomes new staff member, Douglas Newton

Douglas Newton MFTi PCCi

Development Director, Program Innovator, Counselor

Douglas' career is a patchwork quilt through which a service ethic stitches together the chapters.

These include teaching ESL in Taiwan, music performance, contributing to and editing a bilingual magazine, teaching in prison, hosting an award-winning public radio jazz program, and management and development work in the nonprofit sector.

Douglas believes everyone may decide what to grow in their own garden, and that the fruits of that garden are sweeter for the conscious effort. Newton brings a multicultural perspective into service for foster youth, foster children and foster families, and is delighted to be working alongside the good people at FosterHope Sacramento. When Douglas isn't working he writes songs, waters tomatoes, feeds chickens and jumps on the trampoline with his daughters.

Foster Parents: Take July and August off for trainings. These mandatory trainings are a vital part of what we do, and will resume in September.
